Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-47 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chu et al.

Chu discloses an electronic device cooling system comprising: at least one cooling interface 21 disposed at a heat-transfer interface of an electronic device 12, the cooling interface being thermally coupled to a heat exchange unit (not shown); and a heat exhaust 23 thermally coupled to said heat exchange unit, the heat exhaust 23 exhausting heat from the heat exchange unit to a remote location from said electronic device (see Fig. 11a, Fig. 11b); a plurality of heat-transfer interfaces (see Fig. 8a) wherein said heat-transfer interfaces include an ambient air inlet and a warm air outlet; the cooling interface is disposed at the ambient air inlet and the warm air outlet; the first cooling interface is disposed at the ambient air inlet of said electronic device, and the second cooling interface is disposed at the warm air outlet of said electronic device; the first and second cooling interfaces comprise cooling coils; the first and second cooling interfaces comprise cool air conduits; the first and second cooling interfaces are disposed within the electronic device; the apparatus comprising a plurality of electronic devices and a plurality of cooling interfaces such that a cooling interface is disposed at a heat-transfer interface of each electronic device; the electronic device and the cooling device are configured to be commonly supported by the support structure; the support structure comprises a server rack. Chu discloses the claimed invention except the heat exchange unit, although discloses the coolant inlet 41 and coolant exit 42, therefore it must have a heat exchange unit to provide cooling media as inherently necessitated feature of the system, so it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to include the heat exchanging unit as part of the structure as disclosed by Chu et al.

Claims 1-47 can be alternatively rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Baer.
